

Ho! Ho! Ho!

I have been looking at my list of all the good little girls and boys and I see that you're at the top of the Nice list this year. Great job! I know that you've also been doing well in school. I'm very proud of you for being so good.

Rudolph and I are really looking forward to visiting you on Christmas Eve. The elves have been very busy making toys for children all around the world, and I know that you would really like me to bring you something special. I will certainly try my best to bring you something you like. My favorite part of Christmas is being able to make so many kids happy and share the gifts the elves make each year because sharing is what makes Christmas so special.

Your town is one of my first stops this year, so be sure to go to bed early because my magic only works when everyone is asleep. And don't forget to leave out some cookies and milk for me and some carrots for the reindeer! We work up quite an appetite delivering so many toys all around the world.

Have a very merry Christmas!
